

Page Denied

Advanced training in specialized areas of certain positions before assignment would be beneficial to both the employee and the Agency. An example of this would be an individual assigned to Central Travel Branch attending a course in basic travel regulations and accounting before assuming the position. Another example is an individual in a Class B field accounting audit position attending Field Administration prior to auditing station or base accountings.

Prepared by:

STAT